No statements of opposition will be filed from the August 2019 Water Court Resume'.

LEGAL REPORT:

Since Kelly Custer has retired manager Frank will contact attorneys Alyson Scott and Ryan Donovan to set up a time when they can meet with the board in Sterling to discuss succession planning and future work on District water matters.

The District is still a party in the State Engineer's Republican River rulemaking and continues to monitor the rules on behalf of its members and its augmentation plan. In addition, the Republican River Water Conservation District will be holding a meeting with newly affected well owners on October 9th in Julesburg to go over landowner agreements guaranteeing in perpetuity that landowners in the new RRWCD boundaries will not be charged any taxes or fees so long as they are part of a South Platte basin decreed augmentation plan. These landowner agreements do not protect landowners from being curtailed by the State of Colorado as part of Republican River compact compliance, should curtailment ever occur.
